

Presenter Bios

Tarassa Froberg: Tarassa Froberg, MSW, is the current Dependency Training Specialist for the Administrative Office of the Court's (AOC's) Family & Youth Justice Programs (FYJP). She has extensive experience working in child welfare. She worked at the Department of Children Youth and Families for 27 years prior to working at AOC. This included 19 years at a local office working directly with families and as a supervisor. She has worked as the statewide program manager for Child and Family Welfare Services, Family Voluntary Services, CPS-Investigation and CPS-FAR. In addition, she has managed the Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act and the Children's Justice Act Grant, facilitated Citizen Review Panels, written federal reports, analyzed legislation, managed program improvement plans, trained system partners and much more. Tarassa holds a bachelor's degree in psychology for Washington State University and a master's degree in social work from the University of Washington. She is passionate about maintaining the safety and wellbeing of children and the preservation of families through system improvement.

Dr. Collin Schenk, MD (he/him) is the Medical Director of Swedish Addiction Recovery Services, the Associate Program Director of the Swedish Addiction Medicine Fellowship, and the Chief of the Family Medicine Department at Swedish. His clinical expertise includes perinatal addiction, including supporting parents in their pregnant and postpartum periods, as well as caring for newborns within utero substance exposure.

Dr. Mollie Limb, MD-DFM (she/her) was born and raised in Portland, Oregon. She earned a bachelor's degree from the University of Notre Dame with majors in sociology, Spanish and pre-medicine. She earned her medical degree from Vanderbilt University in 2021 and graduated with certificates in health equity and LGBTQ health. She is a board-certified family medicine physician and completed her residency training at Swedish First Hill in Seattle where she served as chief resident during her final year. She will finish her fellowship training with Swedish Addiction Recovery Services (ARS) in July 2025 and will join Swedish ARS as a faculty physician in the fall. In addition to caring for patients with substance use disorders, Mollie enjoys obstetric, newborn and pediatric care and is passionate about working with Spanish-speaking patients and people who are unhoused.